PASADENA NEWS.

ANOTHER LARGE EFFLUX TO THE SEASHORE.

The Charity Work—Here and There—Condensed Budget—Local Founds—The Masonic Social—Personal Mention.

PASADENA, Aug. 7.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The Committee on Temporary Organization of the Charitable Organization Society of Pasadena held a meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Wood & Banbury's office, with Chairman Buchanan officiating.

Secretary Springer read the various articles of the constitution, which were adopted as a whole.

On motion it was resolved to issue a call for a public meeting in Williams's Hall on the evening of the 20th inst.

THE MASONIC SOCIAL.

The social and entertainment given by the Masons last evening in Williams's Hall was a success in every way. Nearly 200 people were present, including many well known in society circles. As the guests arrived they were ushered into the lodgeroom, where Messrs. Wiley, Morrison and Williams, the committee in charge, made every one feel acquainted and at home. As the attendance swelled the larger hall was sought, where the Harmonia Quartette rendered several pleasing selections. An elegant repast was served in the eating-room, the tables being filled five times to accommodate the long list of guests. The evening was spent in social conversation, punctuated by lessons of the Terpsichorean art. To give the names of those present would be impossible. Suffice it to say they were from among the first families of the town.

LOCAL FOUNTAIN.

C. H. Kilgore, George Pettijohn, William Pierce and Ed Jones are among the Pasadenaans sojourning in the mountains.

A home paper says the redolia carinata belongs to the family of anthocerata and sets it off if the public should feel relieved accordingly.

Grapes are plentiful in the market, and big blue ones at that. Every fruit stand in town takes considerable pains to display the luscious bunches.

A large party of ladies and gentlemen took a horseback ride this evening out into the suburbs.

The Miner and Artisan, the new mining publication, makes its appearance on Saturday.

A bulletin board with a complete local directory in the postoffice would be much appreciated by strangers and others. Who will build it?

HERE AND THERE.

C. S. Martin and Col. E. F. Hurlbut are making preparations to go over to Catalina next week.

A marriage license has been issued by Cupid Whitney to A. J. Wright and E. F. Tabor of this city.

A hearing for a right of way over Garfield avenue in the sewer matter will take place in Los Angeles tomorrow. Many of the Councilmen, both of the old and new board, will be present.

Washington Morton, who has been stopping at Mr. and Mrs. Judge Hester's, left this afternoon for Bakerfield.

The toll-road company held a meeting this afternoon and discussed the question of a right of way.

Among those who attend the Knights Templar conclave at Coronado Beach from this city, and who go tomorrow, are G. F. Peabody, R. Williams and J. J. Clark and wife, W. T. Wore and wife, Thorne and wife, H. W. Magee, W. U. Masters, Dr. A. H. Palmer, J. B. Corson, H. B. Sherman, Enoch Knight and Dr. Frary.

CONDENSED BUDGET.

Mexican Joe, who sought an entrance into the opera-house, and young Seaman, who was accused of the theft of a pigeon, were released from custody this morning, no one appearing to prosecute.

A livery man has brought suit against a young man for overdriving a studhorse as to cause its death. Counsel has been employed on both sides. The affair occurred last April. A hearing will take place this week.

PERSONAL.

G. A. Swartwout is expected home within a week.

Miss Pauline Wright has returned from a week's stay at Catalina.

President Parker of the City Council is back in the mainland once more.

John Permar returned last evening from a ten days' outing at Catalina Island. Miss Fannie Permar returned with him.

F. E. Moyer, manager of the West Coast Lumber Company at San Bernardino, was in town today.

CAMP BURNSIDE.

The G. A. R. to Take Up Summer Quarters.

The Grand Army encampment at Long Beach begins today, and will be continued until the 19th inst. The prospect is that the representations from posts and relief corps will be very full and that the encampment will be a delightful affair.

The Southern Pacific proposes to put on an extra train, leaving the city at 11 a.m. and returning from San Pedro at 11 p.m., thus giving transient visitors a chance to take in the afternoon and evening enjoyments of the camp.

The camp was yesterday presented by Mrs. M. B. Horton, a widow, with a fine leather bound register of 250 pages, to contain the signatures of veterans.

Disputed Taxpayers.

About 150 property-owners met in Turnverein Hall last night to discuss the action of the Council in raising the assessments on Spring street 20 per cent, and to consider the sewer-bond proposition. Speeches were made by Louis Mesmer, J. Marion Brooks and others in opposition to the issuance of bonds, in the course of which the Council was severely scored for the management of city affairs. Mr. Mesmer being especially severe on the police department.

The great business was transacted, and the meeting adjourned to next Tuesday night, when suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting will probably be adopted.

Specials.

Messrs. Dillon, Fowler, Baker and Hill have been appointed special to fill the places of the police officers granted leave of absence to attend the G.A.R. Encampment. All of the men are ex-policemen, and will probably be put on the regular force as fast as vacancies occur for any cause.

A DILIPIDATED DOCTOR.

He Falls Into the Hands of the Philistines.

Tuesday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock Dr. J. B. Swigart was found lying on the sidewalk in front of a house of prostitution on Alameda street in a drunken condition and brought to the police station, where he was locked up for medical treatment, brief mention of which was made the following morning. The Doctor is an elderly man, and is one of the Santa Fé surgeons, with headquarters at Barstow, but frequently comes to Los Angeles for rest and recreation, and on more than one occasion has been cared for by the police. When he was brought to the station the Doctor was in a very dilapidated condition, and said that he had been robbed of his gold-headed cane, watch and $48 in money in a saloon at the corner of Turner and Alameda street. Dr. Swigart, however, was not regarded as being responsible for what he said. Yesterday, however, when he was duly sober, he repeated his statements, and told such a straight story that the detective force were put to work, with the result that yesterday afternoon a negro prostitute named Willie Jenkins, an inmate of Mahogany Hall, on Alameda street, and a white man named Edwards, a barkeeper in a Spring street saloon, who had been living with the Jenkins woman, were locked up, charged with the crime. The officers were very reticent about the case, and it is not known just what evidence they have against the pair, but so far none of the missing articles have been turned up.

The Doctor's movements on Monday night, however, been pretty well traced, and from what has been gathered, the parties under arrest are in a bad box. The Doctor first put in an appearance at the Alameda-street saloon rather early in the evening, at which time he was pretty sober, so it is claimed. He was invited out of the saloon several times, and about 11 o'clock he put in an appearance at Mahogany Hall in company with the man Edwards. At this time he was pretty well under the influence of liquor, but the keeper of the place says that he knew what he was talking about, and wanted to buy wine, but she declined to sell any. The Doctor finally went into the Jenkins room, where he remained a few minutes, Edwards staying in the parlor, and apparently very anxious to get him out of the house. He finally started to go, and one of the negroes in his caravans started off with Edwards. The women say that he displayed some money while in the house, but how much they could not tell.

From this time, all trace of him was lost until between 1 and 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he staggered into the saloon at the corner of Turner street, saying that he wanted a policeman, as he had been robbed in the place. The barkeeper took him outside, and started him up the street, and after a short walk he returned with an officer, when he again said that he had been robbed there. The barkeeper denied, and shortly after the patrol wagon was sent for, and the Doctor was taken to the station. The case will probably be prosecuted to a conclusion, as the Doctor says that he has been robbed twice before under similar circumstances, and this time has determined to try and bring the guilty parties to justice.

EAST SIDE

Pleasure-seekers in Transient—Chamber of Commerce.

The Woman's Relief Corp. held a special meeting last evening to make preparations for the grand encampment at San Pedro next week.

Mrs. N. Cruthers and Mrs. Richardson went to Santa Monica yesterday for a couple of weeks' recreation.

Capt. Tyler and wife, W. H. McKeag and family and Andrew Saunders and family leave for San Pedro today, and will take in the grand encampment.

Mr. Lewis and family left for Santa Monica yesterday.

Mrs. Jeffries has gone to Santa Catalina for a few days of recreation.

The many friends of Mrs. E. Meil will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from her serious illness.

Miss Anna Watson had a social gathering at her home last evening.

The East Side Chamber of Commerce held its regular meeting last evening, President Johnson in the chair.

Mr. Johnson reported that he had seen the Supervisors in relation to the extension of Griffin avenue. They had ordered a survey of the proposed route from the city limits to South Pasadena, and would commence the survey today or tomorrow.

Mr. Smith reported that the right of way was secured upon promise, and no doubt would be obtained as soon as he could see the owners of the property.

The question of widening Griffin avenue, from Patrick street north, was raised, and Frank Marsh, Dr. Bullard and Mr. Embrey were appointed a committee to examine into the feasibility of such widening.

Frank Cooper, Uri Embrey and Mr. Cherry were appointed a committee to draft resolutions to be presented to the Board of Public Works as to the proposed plan of having Downey avenue hill graded.

The following resolution was adopted, resolved, that it is the sense of this chamber that the City Council be requested (through the representative of the First Ward) to sink wells at the street crossings along the line of Zarja No. 9 (E), for the purpose of supplying water for fire and irrigation purposes.

The Ballona sewer scheme is losing friends every day, as the public acquire a better understanding of the merits of the case.

The East Side Champion is showing its good sense by taking sides against the extravagant and impractical Ballona scheme, the attempt to put which through would delay work on a sewer for several years.

Christian science is used in Los Angeles a good deal like patent medicine, but it is sad to note how many deaths result in cases of "cure" unless where Christian science is the only means of cure resorted to.

We have received advance sheets of a bulky pamphlet on the Reclamation of Arid Lands by Irrigation, being a report of the Committee on Arid Lands of the California State Board of Trade. A good deal of painstaking work has evidently been put into the report.

There is liable to be a war in this country. It is reported that the brewers who have not sold out to the English syndicate are forming a trust to protect themselves against the operations of the syndicate brewers. It is understood that many of the largest brewers in the country are in the movement.

GLADSTONE declares himself on the side of "the common lot of honorable duty and labor." He considers it honorable for a rich man to work and a sign of public virtue. Democratic America should not need to be taught that labor is honorable. A large class of idle, rich men is a misfortune to any country.

MAYOR HAZARD has very properly again called the attention of the City Council to the advisability of placing the city money where it will draw some interest. Should the Council continue to refuse to sanction this evidently fair step, the opinion will spread among the public that the members of that body are interested in keeping the money where it is, with interest.

WORK is to be pushed rapidly to completion on the war records. J. W. Kirkley of the Adjutant-General's office, who has been selected by Secretary Proctor for third member of the board to complete the publication, has been connected with the Returns Division of that office since 1884. He served three years with much credit in the Army of the Potomac and was wounded at Spotsylvania. The records under his charge for 25 years have been those pertaining to campaigns and battles, including all field reports and statistics. He has been intimately connected with the work of selecting and compiling for the war records volumes since the publication was undertaken.

There has been a falling off in foreign immigration to this country for several years past, a fact which is not to be regretted. All departments of labor in the country are already over-crowded, and it is not desirable that it should become more so. Moreover, it is wisdom to let the foreign masses, who are already here, have an opportunity to adjust themselves to our institutions and political methods, before we attempt to annihilate a large crowd of foreign population and make them a part of our body politic. We cannot make an intelligent American citizen in a day out of a Royalist, Aristocrat or lover of thrones. They must be educated up to the American idea of individual liberty and citizenship, and it is well not to have the political school over-crowded.

Republicans of the New State Call a Convention.

Helena Fighting Hard to Be Montana's Capital.

The North Dakota Convention Sets the Question of Taxing Railways and Prepares to Go Home.

By Telegraph to The Times.
OLYMPIA (Wash.), Aug. 7.—[By the Associated Press.] The convention this morning in 25 minutes passed the article on amendments to the Constitution. Amendments must be agreed to by two-thirds of the Legislature and a majority of the people to become a law.

The convention then went into committee of the whole on the article on revenue and taxation, which shall be determined by the Legislature. An all-day debate took place over the clause to exempt church property from taxation.

The Committee on Federal Relations reported a proposition that the compact with the United States by which the State guarantees religious freedom, waives all right to Indian reservations, agrees not to tax the land in them or the property of Indians, as provided in the Enabling Act.

The Committee on Education reported that the entire revenue of the school fund shall be applied to the support of schools. Those funds are to consist of appropriations and contributions by the State or private individuals, and the amount will be entirely granted for specific purposes of funds accumulated in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, or for the disbursement of which no provision has been made, of money received from the sale of public lands or of 5 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of public lands lying within the State, which will be sold as provided in section 13 of the enabling act after the State is admitted. Sectarianism of any kind on the part of any school is absolutely forbidden. All losses to the school fund by defalcation of any public official are to constitute a debt against the State, drawn 6 per cent, interest, and to be included in the State debts.

SEATTLE (Wash.), Aug. 7.—The Republican State Central Committee today called a convention to nominate a State ticket at Walla Walla, September 4th.

THE CAPITAL FIGHT IN MONTANA.

HELENA (Mont.), Aug. 7.—The convention today took up the question of the temporary location of the capital. A motion was made to strike out the clause locating the capital, which failed completely. The forenoon was devoted to antagonizing Helena.

The afternoon was occupied with voting for the location of the capital, and the section of the constitution was finally amended to read "at Bozeman," and the committee rose and recommended its adoption.

Amendments kept flying, naming every town in the state. It is thought that Helena will retain the temporary capital. Four outside delegates have been won over, and are voting solid for Helena.

THE NORTH DAKOTA CONVENTION.

BISMARCK (Dak.), Aug. 7.—At last evening's session the convention adopted the section providing that railroads shall be taxed at not less than $3000 nor more than $7000 per mile.

At the afternoon's session the only business considered was the report of the Committee on Public Institutions, locating the capitol and other State institutions. The article as yesterday published was adopted.

Hated His Countrymen.

A remarkable will case has just been decided in France. A Frenchman named Travers, who died five years ago, left his property to the poor of London. He said in his will that he had always been oppressed in my native land. He arrived at the age of 45 and have never been my own master. Horrible nation! People who are cowards and blockheads! I should like to have millions to give to the English, who are the born enemies of this idiotic France. This is clear and to the point! His relatives contested the will on the ground that as it was framed in hatred of France, it was opposed to "public order." The will was sustained by the court.

The Kind of Stories Emigrants Are Caught With.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—A German peasant who arrived at Castle Garden last week with only seven francs in his pocket had been sold by an emigration agent that gold was so plentiful in this country that people gave gold trinkets to their children to play with. The agent, a carriage, buildings, and streets with the precious metal. He therefore sold his little place, bought a ticket for New York and gave a farewell feast to his neighbors. He will be sent back.

A GENEROUS CAPTAIN.

He Disobeyed Orders in the Cause of Humanity.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—[By the Associated Press.] There has been received at the Navy Department from Lieutenant-Commander Charles H. Stockton, in command of the Thetis, a report of the movements of the vessels in the Arctic Ocean, and of the rescue of the survivors of the whaling bark Little Ohio and Ohio Second, recently wrecked on Nanwok Island, Bering Sea. In detail, the Associated Press report heretofore published.

Speaking of the case of the survivors of the Little Ohio, Commander Stockton says: "It is doubtful if any would have survived if it had not been for the care of the men. Great credit is due Captain Howland for his generous care of the men, though the establishment was short of provisions, and this is especially due to him when it is stated that the verbal instructions of the owners of the whaling establishment, a wealthy firm in San Francisco."

REVOLTING CRIMES.

Outrage and Murder in Covington County, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.), Aug. 7.—[By the Associated Press.] A shocking story comes from Covington county by way of Garland. A widow and two grown daughters and a 12-year-old son live near a little place called McNeil. The other night three young men went to the house, outraged the women and demolished everything about the premises. They then went to the home of an old negro near by. They found him sick, shaved his head and beat him so that he died next day. His son saw them and asked why they treated his father so. Their answer was that their pistol was which killed him. The dispatches give no name. The place is reported on the telegraph.

HEAVY FORGERIES.

CRIMES OF A MINNEAPOLIS LAWYER.

He Uses His Patron's Name on Bogus Paper to the Amount of $227,000—His Many Victims.

By Telegraph to The Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 7.—[By the Associated Press.] J. Frank Collom, one of the best known young attorneys in Minneapolis, has confessed to forging the name of John F. Blaisdell, a millionaire pioneer of this city, to notes and other paper footling the huge total of $227,000. It has been suspected for some weeks that something was radically wrong with Collom's accounts. He had been a trusted attorney for Blaisdell for several years. It appears that Collom began his peculiar financial methods upwards of a year ago. Blaisdell had every confidence in the young man until a few weeks ago, when F. A. Chamberlain, cashier of the Security Bank, met him in the street and asked him "How much of J. F. Collom's paper have you endorsed?" He replied, "All, $10,000."

Collom became excited. "Why, Mr. Blaisdell," said he, "we have nearly three times that amount of paper in the bank indorsed by you."

The capitalist's face blanched at this. "It must be a mistake," he said. "I know I have never indorsed Collom's paper to you, we had better look into this matter at once."

Then Blaisdell and the Security officials were summoned. A full investigation showed that Collom had been a man of great ability and integrity.

Collom was then confronted with the evidence against him. Without naming who the young attorney at once gave down and confessed his crime. Collom wept bitterly, and begged his hearers not to spare him. He is almost beside himself.

"Send me to the penitentiary," he cried. "I have been a weak and foolish man, I can never say I deserve my fate. No one can ever know how I regret that I have violated the confidence placed in me by Mr. Blaisdell."

It is stated the money secured from Blaisdell was all the signatures purporting to be his forgeries. A detective was sent to shadow Collom. His books were overhauled by an expert accountant, and the opinion was that the man's handwriting was secured to the effect that Collom was the forger. Collom was then confronted with the evidence against him. Without naming who the young attorney at once gave down and confessed his crime. Collom was then confronted with the evidence against him. Without naming who the young attorney at once gave down and confessed his crime. Collom wept bitterly, and begged his hearers not to spare him. He is almost beside himself.

"Send me to the penitentiary," he cried. "I have been a weak and foolish man, I can never say I deserve my fate. No one can ever know how I regret that I have violated the confidence placed in me by Mr. Blaisdell."

It is stated the money secured from Blaisdell was all the signatures purporting to be his forgeries. A detective was sent to shadow Collom. His books were overhauled by an expert accountant, and the opinion was that the man's handwriting was secured to the effect that Collom was the forger. WOMAN AND HOME.

WOMEN OF FASHION NOT NECESSARILY HEARTLESS.

Some Valuable Everyday Recipes—Beauty's Soul—A Pretty Story of Famous Women—The Selfish Element in Character—The Love of Admiration.

I have often heard the fashionable woman spoken of as a heartless creature, with all the better impulses of her nature crushed and hidden beneath her silks and furbelows. But a woman may move in fashionable circles and yet be womanly. It is only where the love of admiration is supreme, and devotion to pleasure is stronger than the love of duty, that the real womanhood is crushed out and the selfish element is the controlling one in character.

I found in the New York Star a few days since a pretty incident in the girlhood of the President's daughter, and also some anecdotes that gave me insight into the life of two famous musicians, one of whom has so recently delighted audiences on this coast. I think my readers will enjoy the little sketch, and so I give it:

Long before the present Mrs. Mc-Kea was married or her father had become President of the United States, she was visiting in Baltimore at the home of Senator Davis, whose daughter Kate was Miss Garrison's most intimate friend. Both girls were noted for their quick sympathies, kind-heartedness and lovely dispositions, and the following incident serves to show that the reputation was not undeserved. The young ladies were one day riding in a street car when an old colored woman entered and seated herself directly opposite to them. For a few moments she fumbled in the depths of a capacious pocket, and then felt carefully each finger of her cotton gloves, while gradually a look of dismay settled upon her ebony features, and finally, desisting her efforts, she sat gazing hopelessly at the toe of her carpet slipper. Suddenly a bright idea seemed to strike her, and, leaning toward the two young girls opposite, she whispered in a perfectly audible tone: "Honcys, would you mind an old gal get a mite of sugar after my money? I dun forgot to keep out any change, an' I doesn't stoom, count of de crack in my back."

Carefully raising a clean calico skirt, she exposed to view a white cotton stocking with a good-sized lump just above the ankle. "Dar'is, honey; dat's where I allus carries it, an' I've never lost a cent yet."

Although the car was full of people, and among them one or two fashionable young men, it was characteristic of these girls that they could not refuse to do a kindly act, and, bending toward the old negro, Miss Garrison reached forward the long knitted garment, and Miss Davis plunged her little-gloved hand into the novel portemonee, and drew out the desired change.

A few years later Miss Davis became the wife of Lieut. R. M. G. Brown, so lately distinguished for bravery on board the ill-fated Trenton at Samoa. Among her wedding gifts was a simple little vinaigrette, presented by a friend who had met with financial losses and was at that time earning her own living. Several costly jeweled vinaigrettes had been given by wealthy friends, but it was the humble little silver and glass bottle which Mrs. Brown carried on her wedding trip, that her sensitive friend might see that altered circumstances made not the slightest difference in her regard.

The people of North Dakota are trying to decide whether they want a State Senate. If a second-hand one will answer their purpose they may be able to strike up a trade with Massachusetts.

New York, Aug. 7.—The stock market again showed a loss in the amount of business done, and speculation was in a degree less interesting than that of the previous few days. The market was irregular, and prices at times sagged off slowly, while movements in everything except a few leading shares were confined to the smallest fractions and were generally without special significance. Final changes are about equally divided between gains and losses, but are usually for slight fractions only. San Francisco preferred sold on 1%.
